

Join OfficeRnD as a Customer Onboarding or Technical Support Specialist and take a front-row seat in a high-growth product startup.

You will learn how great startups work and succeed by participating in processes shaping the company and our team – from marketing and sales to customer success, product management and development.

We are looking for various roles - from business and customer focus to technical support.

We also have part-time night shift roles for Tech Support Specialist, if you prefer this type of flexibility.

Review the roles and send us your CV, we would be happy to talk!
